

THE PUBLIC LOGIC IMMIGRATION MANIFESTO

This is the moment we stopped pretending borders must mean chaos.

We stopped pretending that dysfunction means strength. That cages mean control. That a system so broken it punishes the compliant and ignores the corrupt is anything close to a strategy.

We replaced cruelty with clarity. Loopholes with logic. Fear with a system that actually works.

This isn't open borders. This is open books.

A digital ID for every entrant. A global criminal check before the door opens. A two-year probation period tied to work, school, and behavior.

No more shadows. No more gray areas. One clear system. One chance to step into the light.

For those already here: a one-time offer to join the public. Eighteen months to apply. No felonies. No fakes. Just effort.

For those who come after: rules, pathways, and a drone-secured border that makes guesswork obsolete.

You want to contribute? Welcome. You want to hide? Good luck.

This plan doesn't hand anything out. It hands people a process.

It rewards contribution. It punishes exploitation. It tracks who's here, where they're going, and why. Employers get one shot to play fair. Then we shut the game down.

This is not amnesty. This is order.

This is not theory. This is enforcement—by design.

This is what happens when the legal path is finally easier than the illegal one.

It's not utopia. It's just less dumb.

This is the Immigration Plan. This is Public Logic. This is how we fix it.

---

Projected Impact When the Immigration Plan was run through a logic-based projection model:

In 5 years: • 10 million+ undocumented residents now tracked, contributing, and protected. • Border crossings drop by 70%. • Off-book labor plummets. Tax revenue spikes. • Employers stop hiring shadows. The system starts working.

In 10 years: • Citizenship applications rise. • Enforcement costs drop. • American wages stabilize. • Global cooperation increases through data exchange.

In 20 years: • The U.S. becomes the global model for rational immigration. • Loopholes are closed. Communities are safer. • No more cages. No more guesswork. Just a system that works.